

All three share the identical modality-blind body; only the embedding, head, and (continuous vs. discrete) representation differ.