

Architectural pattern and mixer family are orthogonal design axes – every named model is one (pattern, mixer) coordinate. Each row fixes the causal/conditioning switches of the composition chapter; each column swaps the mixer that implements them.